County Commission Overrules Meeting; Approves Street

By Sue Aucella Deacon

By a unanimous vote of three county commissioners, a town meeting action has been overruled, and the town will be directed to accept Whispering Pines Way as a public road. The ruling may end one resident's ten-year battle to block that street acceptance at town meeting.

The commissioners voted to allow the petition of 15 Whispering Pines residents during a hearing in Salem Tuesday afternoon. Andover Atty. Andrew Caffrey, Jr., representing the residents, had filed the petition based on a little-known law that empowers the county commissioners to overturn an "unreasonable" town meeting vote on a street acceptance.

Caffrey said the residents were "very relieved and pleased" that their street will now become a public way, owned and maintained by the town.

The street acceptance has been opposed for years by abutter John Doyle of Reservation Road, who argued successfully against it at last year's annual town meeting. Voters turned down the petition to accept Whispering Pines Way with a 180-187 vote; several more townspeople voted against it on a recount requested by Caffrey.

Doyle appeared before the county commissioners on Tuesday, presenting them with documentation on problems with the street. The commissioners recessed to review his material before voting to accept the petition.

Offering no comment Wednesday on whether he would continue to fight the street acceptance, Doyle said only that "the problems do not end with the town being forced to accept the street. The problems will go on forever until the thing is made right."

The selectmen and Planning Board supported the residents' petition for street acceptance at town meeting. Last week, the selectmen agreed to send a letter to the county commissioners in support of the Whispering Pines residents' appeal to the county.

Whispering Pines Way serves a subdivision built by former selectmen Sidney P. White in 1967. White no longer owns any of the subdivision property. When the development was built, the planning board waived a requirement that the road pavement be centered in the right of way.

Town officials maintain that the road qualifies for street acceptance because it meets the town's rules and regulations. The off-center pavement will not increase

Town Manager Kenneth Mahony

An Active, Enjoyable Beginning

His first days in Andover have been action-packed and enjoyable, new Town Manager Kenneth R. Mahony said yesterday — "but I have to be sure not to mistake motion for progress," he added with a laugh.

Mahony, 45, was sworn in at Town Hall Monday morning, and since then has been making the rounds of town departments, introducing himself to staffers and acquainting himself with the workings of Andover's government.

"It's a wonderful experience, going around meeting people, looking at facilities, climbing around the construction at the new school building project," he said. "It's a very intense learning process, and a very pleasant one."

The former city administrator of Passaic, N.J., participated in his first selectmen's meeting Monday night, but that meeting was largely devoted to a closed-door discussion of the final details of his $42,500 contract. Mahony's contract will be made public shortly, according to Selectmen Chairman Norma Gammon, as

Solid Waste Group Gives Deadline To Communities

Communities interested in joining a $74 million trash-to-energy plant set for North Andover have been put on notice that only 300 tons per day capacity remains at the plant planned by the North East Solid Waste Committee (NESWC).

Communities representing more than 800 tons per day are competing in what is described as a "first come, first served" race to the wire for the remaining 300 tons capacity.

NESWC on December 29 voted to extend the contract with vendor UOP, Inc., of Des Plaines, ILL., to February 28, but Chairman Edward J. Scanlon emphasized the plant will probably be filled up before the short extension runs its course.

Scanlon said the extension is intended to give new-comer communities such as Waltham, Newton, Arlington, Watertown and North Shore communities some time to evaluate the proposal.

However, Scanlon stressed that there is not enough space remaining to accommodate all of those communities currently looking at the contract.

UOP project manager John Phillips outlined the project's status, noting 21 communities have contracted approximately 600 tons per day to NESWC since the contract became available in April.

Phillips said community membership opportunities have dwindled sharply since 10 private commercial haulers reserved 575 tons per day capacity at the plant.

Phillips said UOP is in the process of negotiating contracts with haulers. Haulers have the "right of first refusal," and must fall by the way side to allow more community participation beyond the 900 tons per day threshold previously approved by NESWC, Phillips explained.

Besides extending the contract, NESWC also delayed imposition of a $1 per ton premium for communities signing after February 28.

Watertown manager Peter Boyer asked for a deferment of the penalty provision until his community has the opportunity to view the NESWC pact more closely.

Boyer acknowledged his community is being wooed by several firms, "I'm personally convinced NESWC is the superior alternative but I'm not sure that's the way we'll go," Boyer said in asking for the delay.

Communities dragging their feet could face an even stiffer premium, if Lexington town manager Robert Hutchinson has his way.

Hutchinson went on record as favoring a $5 per ton penalty and said NESWC should be prepared to vote on the levy when it meets January 28.

Solar Group Planning Get Together

Merrimack Valley Solar Energy Association free monthly program will be held at the Greater Lawrence Regional Vocational Technical School, Room L4, River Road, Andover. The topic will be how solar domestic hot water systems have actually saved owners money. Paul Erhartic will discuss results of a survey and answer questions.

The meeting is free and open to the public, with an informal get-together following. MVSEA's purpose is to promote energy conservation, cost-effective solar heating and other renewable energy use locally. The group publishes a newsletter, offers hands-on workshops and tours of local solar projects. Membership is welcomed and volunteers are needed. For further information, call Julia Morse or Fred Snell.

Ski Hike

A cross country ski trip and snowshoe (hike if no snow) will be sponsored by the Andover Committee of the Appalachian Mountain Club, Sunday, Jan. 10, at 1:30 p.m. The group will meet at entrance to Bessie Goldsmith Reservation, junction Gould Road and Route 28, Andover. The public is invited. Leader is Fred Snell, who can be contacted for details.

South Gets A Positive TV Image

The South Side Singers, a "select" singing group from the South School, achieved video celebrity status recently when they appeared on the WBZ-TV (Channel 4) evening news, singing a Christmas song while the closing credits rolled. The school committee watched a video tape of the Dec. 22 performance during their meeting Tuesday night.

The children, praised by South Principal Joseph Normandy as "a wonderful group of children who have done a wonderful job," are directed by Steve Freedman, who wrote the song they sang on the newscast, "Sing We Noel." After the schoolmen applauded the taped performance, Chairman Joseph Finn noted that it was "a lot more positive than the previous exposure the South School received back in September." He was referring to protest marches on the school during last fall's busing controversy, which attracted television cameras.

On an equally positive note, the committee nominated Eleanor Campbell of the Bancroft School staff as Andover's applicant for an American School Board educational scholarship.

The committee voted unanimously after hearing a letter written by Bancroft Principle Lois Haslam, praising Campbell for outstanding service to Bancroft and its students.

Digital Hearing Monday

The continuation of a public hearing on whether Digital Equipment Corp. should be allowed to store 8,500 gallons of propane gas in six aboveground tanks at its 179 River Road building site has been delayed until next Monday.

The hearing began last Monday, but was continued until this week when several abutters complained that the location proposed for the tanks was not the safest possible location on the site.

Although the fire chief had recommended that location, the selectmen voted to continue the hearing, and ask the fire chief to consider the neighbors' objection.

According to Selectmen Chairman Norma Gammon, the hearing was delayed until next week because not all abutters received notification of the continued hearing by Monday, and the fire chief had not submitted his report to the selectmen.

Muise Is Named Parking Fine Clerk

Collector-Treasurer Myron H. Muise has a new duty, as of last Friday, Jan. 1. He will now supervise the collection of parking fines at Town Hall. The board of selectmen approved Muise's appointment as parking clerk during a brief public meeting Monday night.

Under new state legislation, the responsibility for collecting parking fines has been passed from Lawrence District Court to the town. Last week, the board approved increased fees for parking fines under the new law.

Residents Drawn For Jury Duty

Sixteen townspeople were drawn for jury duty by the selectmen last week. They are: Gilberta Napolitan of 10 Bradley Road, Richard Dauber of 20 Washington Ave., David Callaghan of 4 Hemlock Road, Beverly Schwartz of 407 Longwood Drive, Mark Hanlon of 39 Linwood St., Penn Clower of 459 Lowell St., Sidney Laha of 10 Lucerne Drive, and James Anderson of 20 Woodhaven Drive.

Spencer A. Joyner, Jr. of 93 Greenwood Road, Gertrude Lindley of C2 Colonial Drive, Laura Torra of 6 Maple Ave., James J. Morris, Jr. of 109 Lovejoy Road, Arthur Parker of 63 Carmel Road, Lyman Coombs of 3 Sheffield Circle, Anne Wiehe of 103 Salem St., and James Anderson of 20 Woodhaven Drive.

Information Meeting For League

Know Your League, an evening of informational exchange, sponsored by the Andover League of Women Voters, will be conducted by Chairperson Julie Stratton at her 7 Howell Drive home, Monday, Jan. 11, at 7:45 pm.

Linda Carpenter, league president, will give an introductory welcome and Theresa Reichart, first vice president, will explain league terminology. Committee chairpersons will explain the various studies undertaken by the league.

Those wishing to try league membership have been invited to join for one-half year, one-half price.

Wine, cheese and dessert will be served.

Further information is available from Julie Stratton or Sue Redgate, membership co-chairpersons.

'72 Reunion Planned

The Andover High School class of 1972 is planning to conduct its 10th reunion during the Thanksgiving or Christmas holiday season of 1982.

Class officers will send questionnaires to all alumni in hopes of eliciting help, suggestions and new addresses. Any alumnus whose address has changed and is interested in helping can contact one of the following: Diana Tisbert, 6 Pettingill Road; Marcia Murnane, 9 Alderbrook Road; Darlene Trombly, 110 Lowell St.

PROTECTING YOUR HOME

by Richard L. Sampson

Burglar's Favorite Target

The single family home is by far the favorite target for the three million burglaries committed each year, according to a recent review of government and academic studies.

However, a U.S. Department of Justice study shows that burglars usually avoid buildings where sensible security measures have been taken.

Police officials agree that a central monitoring station alarm system, in which electronic sensors detect an intruder and flash a signal to trained operators who notify police, offers the greatest protection.

Today over twelve hundred families in this area are enjoying the security of such systems installed by American Alarm's craftsmen-technicians. If you are interested in providing such security for your family, call us today for a no-obligation security survey.

tral American countries, where the Marines provided static displays and weapons instruction.

Port visits made during the cruise included Venezuela, the Netherlands Antilles and Honduras.

Reynolds, a member of 3rd Battalion, 6th Marines, based at Camp Lejeune, N.C., joined the Marine Corps in March 1981.

Tenugui, as they are more properly called, are simple cotton towels cut from long bolts of stenciled cloth, traditionally carried to the public bath and used for both washing and drying until the advent of terry cloth.

Today, Tenugui, which literally means "handwiper," are also worn as head covers or sweat bands, or used as dish towels or dust rags. These towels beautifully illustrate the Japanese flair for color and design

Pioneering Care For Handicapped

Handicaps can prevent children from enjoying some of the simplest pleasures such as riding a bicycle. The Telephone Pioneers of America, however, have developed a tricycle for children who cannot use their legs.

Pioneers from Merrimack Valley Works Chapter 78 recently donated such a hand-powered tricycle to the Christ Church Professional Nursery for the Handicapped in Andover. The tricycle not only provides recreation but also strengthens the upper body.

The Telephone Pioneers of America, the largest service organization in the world with more than 550,000 members, is composed of Telephone volunteers with at least 18 years of service. Chapter 78 consists of active and retired employees of Western Electric and Bell Labs at the Merrimack Valley Works in North Andover.

The Pioneers purchased the tricycle from fellow Pioneers in Indianapolis. A cam on the handle bar, rather than pedals, propels the tricycle.

Chapter 78 also donated a stuffed "talking" bear used in speech therapy for retarded and autistic children who often talk more readily at play. A speech therapist out of the children's view can communicate through an intercom in the teddy bear. Local Pioneers made the talking bear which was originally designed by Pioneers in Pennsylvania.

The therapeutic toys are just some of the services provided by the Pioneers to the handicapped. Decreasing federal and local funds for the handicapped have caused increased dependence on volunteer organizations and donations from the private sector.

Chapter 78 co-sponsors Special Field Games for the Handicapped in this area and makes a beeping softball for the blind. Volunteers also send hundreds of cards and gifts to patients in convalescent homes during the holidays.

First Ride

Hector Pimentel, 5, takes his first ride on a hand-powered tricycle donated to the Christ Church Professional Nursery for the Handicapped in Andover by Merrimack Valley Works Chapter 78, Telephone Pioneers of America. The tricycle is propelled from the handle bar for children who do not have use of their legs. The Pioneers also donated a talking teddy bear used in speech therapy for the handicapped.

The volunteers are now seeking to involve the community through a new organization called Pioneer Partners. The Partners, spouses of Pioneers, will be donating layettes for needy newborns in area hospitals. Elderly in the area have responded by offering to knit and sew clothing.

The Pioneers have continued their "Tradition of Caring" for more than 70 years.

Mill Era To Be Presented

In the early days of the Industrial Revolution in America, textile mills had to pretend their products were imported in order to sell them. The boxes in which they shipped their fabric were disguised by copied foreign trademarks so that the wary American consumer would venture to buy the material. Such techniques soon became unnecessary because of the good quality and lower price of American textiles, and the booming industry which resulted changed life in America forever.

Andover's role in the mill era will be recounted in a program organized by Bernice Haggerty entitled "The Mill," to be presented Tuesday, Jan. 12, at 9:30 a.m. at the Andover Historical Society, 97 Main St., Andover. Coffee and doughnuts will be served prior to the meeting, which is free and open to the public. The program will include slides and talks by various members of the society on different aspects of Andover's role in the mill era.

The mill era began early in Andover, the Marland Mill predating even the world-famous Lowell mills. Specializing in wool flannel, widely worn in the 19th century, and linen thread for sewing shoes and other purposes, Andover's mills were an economic success, adding an important dimension to the life of the town.

In addition to the obvious economic value of the mills' presence, the new industry also brought to the town men who were as important a resource as the factories they started. The founders of Andover's mills, men like Abraham Marland, Moses T. Stevens, Peter Smith and John Dove, directed their abundant energies to many matters besides business. They built Memorial Hall Library, established Christ Episcopal Church and the Free Christian Church and fought for abolition. They indeed were men of their times and they helped to keep Andover not only alive, but growing.

The public is invited to attend the morning coffee and learn more about this vital aspect of Andover's history.

The Andover Historical Society is a non-profit educational institution open to both members and public. For information on open hours, exhibitions, tours, special events and membership, call the office, open 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Slide Presentation On Andovers

When the Andover Historical Society puts on its historic slide show on the "Two Andovers" for the public on Sunday, Jan. 10, at 2 and 3 p.m. at the Historical Society, 97 Main St., it will cover many visual aspects of the history of what was once a single community.

This show gives an overall view of historical structures in the Andovers. It is one of six slide shows prepared by this Society for the purpose of helping contemporary Andover residents better understand their community's rich cultural heritage. These shows are offered to the public the first Sundays of each month.

Included in this offering of over 100 slides and accompanying script are 14 old homes, six churches, three private schools and three historic cemeteries. This presentation will evoke a long-past lifestyle which is the heritage of both old-timers and newcomers in this community.

Among the houses covered are Moody Bridges, Parson Barnard, Kittredge, Samuel Osgood and Phillips homes in what is now North Andover; in Andover, Abbot Tavern, Rose Cottage, Benjamin Abbot House, Phelps mansion, Bullfinch Hall, Stowe House, America House and the Amos Blanchard House.

The six old church buildings pictured on this "tour" of the Andovers are the Unitarian Church (1836) in North Parish and, in South Parish, the Free Church (1846), Baptist Church (1834), St. Augustine's (1895), South Church (1861) and Christ Church (1886).

Also shown are buildings of the three private schools which gave Andover its academic distinction: Abbot Academy, Phillips Academy and the Andover Theological Seminary.

Briefly described are three old burial grounds.

To Portray Theater History

"Energy, Precision, Joy," a celebration of the history of the American musical theater, will be performed Friday, Jan. 8, at 8 p.m. at George Washington Hall, Phillips Academy, Andover.

"Energy, Precision, Joy," an original work by Jane G. Osler, recreates the highlights of the musical stage in a unique combination of narrative and slides brought to life by a troupe of seven professional dancers performing 16 numbers from hits such as "Oklahoma," "West Side Story" and "A Chorus Line."

In its first season of performances across New England, "Energy, Precision, Joy" has been enthusiastically received. "For students and faculty, it is the right stuff... We look to a return performance," says David Sheldon, headmaster, Middlesex School.

The hour-long program is open to the public at no charge.

Cardiac Unit Has Latest In Modern Care Equipment

The latest in monitoring equipment, patient education program and a patient-focused nursing care plan combine with medical care to give the patients in the six-bed coronary care unit (CCU) at Lawrence General Hospital (LGH), Lawrence, "a far better chance of returning to a relatively normal lifestyle."

This, according to Rhonda Dorsey, RN, CCU head nurse, is basis for the most recent changes on the unit.

Newly installed monitoring and diagnostic equipment has been funded through an anonymous donation in memory of Horace P. Stevens, an LGH trustee for 22 years who died in November 1980. This highly sophisticated equipment increases the nursing staff's ability to know precisely any changes in a patient's condition.

"This equipment, combined with our nurses' specialized education in cardiology, enables the staff to provide continuous assessment and treatment of the critically ill patient," Dorsey said.

"The new equipment not only displays the heart's rhythm, which is important in preventing and treating arrhythmia, but allows us to calculate pressures within the heart to prevent heart failure and cardiogenic shock," she explained.

"Because of the desire to be accountable for their own nursing practice, nurses in the coronary care unit are devoted to providing holistic patient-centered health care, involving not only the patient but the family as well," she went on.

The unit uses primary nursing. One nurse is responsible for the patient as a whole including planning the nursing care, working with the doctor and interacting with the family. "By using primary nursing one nurse is responsible for a particular patient's total care. The patient and family know who to go to when they have questions or need help," Dorsey explained.

A new patient teaching program has been designed by the nursing staff tailored to what the nurses see as the needs of the patients. It includes videotapes and printed material and is guided by the patient's nurse. Each patient is given a packet including pamphlets and information written by the nursing staff covering

On Board

Bon Secours Hospital Acute Care Coordinator Rita Roberts, R.N., was recently appointed to serve a three year term as an at-large member of the Massachusetts Emergency Medical Care Advisory Board, representing the Central Merrimack Valley Emergency Medical Services Council.

The advisory board, established in 1974, consults the Massachusetts Department of Public Health on the planning and implementing of emergency medical services statewide.

In addition to serving on the advisory board since its beginning, Roberts is also a member of two advisory board subcommittees: The Poison Committee and The Committee for Continuing Education of Emergency Room Nurses.

She lives in Methuen with her husband.

diet needs, medications and rehabilitation methods. The teaching begins when the patient is first admitted to CCU. A CCU nurse will continue to visit the patient for teaching sessions after transfer to a medical unit. The family is also included in the education program.

"The teaching program enables the nurse to interact with the patient and family providing a more thorough knowledge of his disease and what it means to him as an individual," she said.

"Nursing care of the cardiac patient at Lawrence General has certainly changed since the opening of the CCU in 1967. There have been tremendous developments in the field of diagnosis and treatment of coronary disease and as this field of medicine has progressed, so has nursing care of the cardiac patient at LGH," she concluded.

Who qualifies for an IRA?

Everyone.

That's right. Because of recent federal legislation, on January 1, 1982 everyone qualifies for an Individual Retirement Account. Even if you're already participating in a company retirement plan. And an IRA at First Essex Savings Bank is a safe, sure way to save for your retirement years.

What makes an IRA an especially good investment is you don't have to wait until the day you retire to enjoy it. That's because you can deduct annual IRA deposits from your federal income taxes. And here's more good news. On January 1, the limit for these tax-exempt deposits will be $2,000 a year or 100% of earned income (whichever is less). A married person with a non-working spouse will be able to deposit up to $2250. And if both you and your spouse are employed, the new IRA regulations allow you to deposit up to $4,000 and deduct this amount from your joint federal tax return. Keep in mind these are maximum deposits — you can invest less in an IRA if you want.

At First Essex, we have a number of ways for you to invest in an IRA. (And if you're self-employed, our Keogh Plans are for you.) No matter which one you choose, your money will earn a high rate of interest — interest that's tax-free until the day you retire. A day when your income and tax rate will be a lot lower than it probably is today.

For more information about the many benefits of an Individual Retirement Plan or Keogh Plan, come to First Essex Savings Bank.

Contributions (up to the legal limits) are deductible for Federal Income Tax purposes. However, contributions are not deductible from Massachusetts Income Tax. All deposits are insured in full under Massachusetts law.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore C. Foundas

Foundas-Govostes

Debra Beverly Govostes, daughter of Capt. Peter J. Govostes of Canton and Mrs. Alice Matas Crockett and Harold Crockett of Milton, recently became the bride of Theodore Chris Foundas, son of Dr. John Harris Foundas of Charleston, W. Va., and Mrs. Sophia Gail Rozes-Foundas of Brookline.

The Annunciation Greek Orthodox Cathedral of Boston was the setting for the Nov. 29 ceremony, which was performed by Rev. John C. Zanetos, Dean of the cathedral.

The bride was escorted down the aisle by her stepfather, Harold Crockett, who handed her to her father, Capt. Peter J. Govostes, who in turn gave her in marriage to the groom. Her white peau de soie gown had a fitted bodice of Alencon lace sculptured into a sweetheart neckline, with long, tapered pointe d'esprit sleeves, encrusted with Alencon lace hand-beaded appliques. The gown had a cathedral train with Alencon beaded appliques scattered throughout the skirt and train of the gown.

Her bridal illusion circular face veil was attached to a Camelot cap of matching beaded lace with three tiers of the bridal illusion veil continuing to cathedral length. She carried a cascade of orchids, pink roses, eucharist lilies, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Cathleen Frances Plutagen of Quincy was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Carol Jean Gard and Laurie Ann Nicolson, both of Reading, and Geraldine Ann Surrette of Andover.

The maid of honor wore a muave moire faille gown with fitted bodice and sweetheart neckline, having off-the-shoulder short puffed sleeves.

The bridesmaids wore identical dresses as the maid of honor, but in deep lilac. They each wore a narrow band of faille with a silk flower around their neck, as well as a scattering of baby's breath in their hair and carried a lace and satin fan dyed to match their gowns, covered with an arrangement of orchids, pink roses, eucharist lilies and purple statice.

The bride's nephews, Aaron Joseph Govostes and Isaac Michael Carty of Hopedale, were ring bearers.

Paul Peter Govostes of Quincy, the bride's brother, served as best man. Ushers included the bride's older brother, Capt. John Peter Govostes of Brookline, Stephen Nordblum of West Roxbury, who served as assistant to the best man, and Richard Perlmuter of West Roxbury.

Mrs. Alice Crockett, mother of the bride, wore a strawberry pink chiffon gown. The groom's mother, Mrs. Gail Foundas, wore a lavender chiffon gown.

The couple honeymooned in Montreal and are presently residing in Framingham.

Gardens In Color Discussed

Mrs. Norman C. Frost, winner of the Environmental Protection Agency's Citizen's Merit Award last year, presented the feature address at the January meeting of the Andover Garden Club Tuesday at South Church.

Her lecture, entitled "A Frost-y January," invited garden club members to plan and improve their gardens during the 1982 growing season. Special emphasis was on the growing of perennial flowers which will return yearly and create a colorful garden from May through September.

An accomplished gardener, Mrs. Frost is a flower show judge and twice winner of the John Taylor Arms Award at the Boston Spring Flower Show. This award is for the highest point scored flower design in the Esther Arlan, an experienced union mediator, will discuss the area of negotiating raises and promotions—what to do and what not to do.

NOW Group Will Have Program

A free public demonstration of consciousness raising, sponsored by the Greater Lawrence Chapter of N.O.W. will be given to women on Wednesday, Jan. 13, at 7:30 p.m. at the North Parish Church in North Andover (corner of Great Pond Road and Academy Road).

In the consciousness raising (CR) program, small groups of women meet for 10-week sessions with trained leaders to discuss, in a supportive environment, what women have in common. The women's awareness of their social conditioning is heightened, as is their understanding of their roles in life.

Lina McLaughlin, coordinator of the CR Task Force, will explain the basic philosophy and general ground rules of CR, after which all will participate in a mini-demonstration of a CR meeting. The purpose of this demonstration is to provide participants with enough experience to determine whether they wish to sign up for a 10-week session beginning in February.

The Andover Junior Garden Club will meet on Saturday, Jan. 9, at 10 a.m. at Bay State National Bank meeting room. Old and new members in grades 3 to 6 are invited. New Pastor At Vale Church

Rev. Gary S. Cornell, for the past five years pastor of UUnited Methodist Church, Barrington, R.I., has assumed his new duties as pastor of Ballard Vale United Church. His first service at the church will be on Sunday, Jan. 10.

Born in North Attleboro and educated in local schools, he graduated from High Point College in 1959. He saw missionary service with the United Methodist Board of Global Ministries in Bolivia from 1959-1962.

Rev. Mr. Cornell attended Wesley Theological Seminary, Washington, D.C., graduating in 1966 with a Master in Sacred Theology degree. Ordained deacon in 1964 and elder in 1967, he served associate pastorships at South Church, Manchester, Conn.; Carter Memorial, Needham; Matthewson Street Church, Providence and was appointed to the Barrington church in 1976.

In addition to his pastoral responsibilities, he was active in local and state affairs. His special area of concern while in Rhode Island was with neglected, abused and dependent children. For several years he was a volunteer at the O'Rourke Children's Center, a state institution, and for two years he served as the Protestant chaplain of that institution. He, along with other concerned citizens and agencies, urged the governor to reorganize the child welfare system which was accomplished. He was appointed by R.I. Gov. J. Joseph Garrahy as a charter member of the Governor's Advisory Council to the new Department of Children and Their Families.

The new Ballardvale pastor has a strong interest in youth and while assigned to parishes in Manchester, Conn and Needham, established youth drop-in centers. He has worked closely with the youth ministry in churches he has served.

His wife, Margaret, is a native of Winchester, Ky. and a graduate of Georgia Wesleyan College, with a Master in Religious Education Degree from Wesleyan Theological Seminary. she has served as a director of Christian Education at a United Methodist Church in the Washington, D.C. area and for the past three years was the coordinator in Religious Education for the RISEM District of the Southern New England Conference of the United Methodist Church.

ALMS Offers Courses

The Andover Lay Ministry Seminary (ALMS) is entering its sixth semester at South Church, 41 Central St. In an effort to provide quality courses in a variety of subject areas, two new courses are being offered starting Wednesday, Jan. 13.

A film course, "God of Our Fathers: Roots of Our American Religious Experience," featuring Dr. Edward Bauman, one of the nation's foremost producer-hosts of religious programming, will be offered. Dr. Bauman, an ordained United Methodist minister, has been in TV for 20 years. His programs have won various awards, including an Emmy, for their depth and quality. The course will cover such subjects as the theological roots of America's first settlers, studies of different personalities and their beliefs and a look at how different issues (some of which are still concerns today) were perceived in a religious framework. Discussion and interaction concerning the films will be included in each class session.

The second course, entitled "Steps to Christian Maturity," looks at the Christian and relationships to a variety of subjects and concerns. Topics such as the Christian and self, the Christian and money, the Christian and social responsibility will be studied, with attempts to make personal application. Rev. Dave Melvin of South Church will teach this course.

Each class will run for 10 weeks starting Wednesday, Jan. 13 (except Wednesday, Jan. 27). Individuals may register through the church office or at the first evening of class.

Loses 202 Pounds

Inspired By Conway Diet Institute!!!

CAROL SNIDER spent a chubby childhood and went up from there.

"My weight just kept climbing - in high school, college; with marriage and motherhood."

"I couldn't find a diet that really worked for me until I started on The Conway Program in July, 1980. I weighed 343 pounds the night I started; now I weigh only 141 pounds."

"Conway's Ideal 1000 Calorie Diet, which allows three meals a day plus snacks and the weekly insight seminars provided the knowledge and motivation I needed."

"The Conway Program worked for me. It's wonderful!!", says the delighted Carol.

Fund Would Protect Merrimack Land

the town's cost of maintaining the street, according to the Public Works director.

But Doyle argues that because the pavement is not centered, power lines have been erected on his property, trees have been cut from his land, and snow is plowed onto his land. Caffrey says the utility companies are willing to remove their power lines, but Doyle has not allowed them on his property to do so.

When the attorney petitioned the county commissioners last month, he said that town meeting voted on "personalities" — swayed by a dramatic speech Doyle presented — rather than on the "facts and issues."

The commissioners continued the hearing until this week after Doyle opposed the petition. They also came to Andover to view the street last month.

Manager

soon as it is typed and signed by each selectman.

Mahony was also tentatively scheduled to meet with the School Building Committee tonight, to meet the committee members and be briefed on the building project.

The manager has not singled out specific issues as his top priorities, he said, because "you have to deal with all of the issues — you can't take them separately. You have to take them all at once."

Mahony is currently staying in temporary quarters in town; his wife has not yet joined him here.

The town manager's first impressions of Andover: "It's a well-run community, and it's fun to be dealing with that kind of situation — for a change," he noted, referring to the more heated political atmosphere he left behind in Passaic.

Based on a year-long study of critical needs related to the Merrimack River Valley in Massachusetts, the Merrimack River Watershed Council, with over 800 members, announced a special drive to create a Land Acquisition Revolving Fund of $75,000.

Kicking off the drive was a $25,000 matching gift from the Theodore Edson Parker Foundation which must be matched by Feb. 1 or it will be lost.

The council has spent one year analyzing water and land values along the 55 miles of the Merrimack from the New Hampshire border to the Atlantic. This Comprehensive River Protection Strategy, as it was called, was funded by the council's private money raised from the private sector and a grant from the Heritage Conservation and recreation Service which has now become a part of the National Park Service.

Guided by an Oversight Committee, and involving meetings covering 16 cities and towns, the priority that emerged from the work was to establish a private, fast acting fund, under the joint direction of the council and Essex County Greenbelt Association to acquire lands important to the rural character of the valley which are threatened by inappropriate development.

"This Merrimack River Protection fund is based on very effective land protection models in other watersheds," said Rosalind Tufts, council executive director. It is a "revolving fund"—that is, it will be used time and time again to help protect as much as a million dollars of real estate—threatened farm land, important scenic views and wetlands critical to the health and flood buffering capability of the river.

Specifically, the council is going to over 5,000 citizens from Lowell to Newburyport, and to date, has received over $12,000. Citizens who would like to contribute should make their check payable to the Merrimack River Protection Fund and send it to the Merrimack River Watershed Council, 22 Merrimack Square, Merrimack, MA 01860 before Feb. 1.

Pole Hill Problems Discussed

By Sue Aucella Deacon

What could be the first in a series of meetings on potential problems at the Pole Hill subdivision between town officials and the developer's representatives went fairly smoothly last week, the Community Development and Planning director reported Tuesday.

A solution to potential soil erosion problems on the hill is still to be negotiated, however, director Jonathan Gilmore said — and, in fact, the developer has yet to "formally agree that there is a problem."

Gilmore was among the town officials and staffers who met at Andover Atty. Reginald Marden's office last Thursday with the attorney and engineer Paul Ferrante of Dana F. Perkins Associates of Lowell. Marden and Ferrante represent Pole Hill developer Arthur Kalogianis of TDJ Development Corp., who was not present.

The Community Development director was accompanied by Planning Board Chairman David Gravalles, Conservation Commission Chairman Robert Pustell, Public Works Director Robert McQuade, Building Inspector Salvatore DeSalvo, James Greer of the engineering department, and Robert Morehouse, district conservationist from the Soil Conservation Service of Littleton.

Although Kalogianis's representatives made "no commitments" during the two-hour meeting, they "seemed interested in listening to what we had to say," Gilmore said, and appeared "prepared to respond favorably" to solutions proposed by the town representatives.

Town officials believe there will be an "extreme problem" with soil erosion during construction at the site, which borders wetlands along the banks of the Shawsheen River. That soil erosion could effect property outside of the developer's land as well as the subdivision itself, Gilmore said.

"The less soil that is destabilized and stripped of vegetation, the better," he explained. A variety of methods could be used to achieve that goal, he said, but those methods have not been specified yet.

It will probably take "several more meetings to iron out an informal solution" to the problem, the director indicated. If an agreement is reached, Gravalles and Pustell will have to present it to their respective boards for approval, he added.

Gilmore sent his notes and a synopsis of the meeting to Marden, along with a preliminary proposal for a solution, so "the ball is now in their court," the director said. Another meeting will probably be scheduled when Marden responds to that memorandum, he said. Gravalles, Pustell, McQuade and Pustell will probably represent the town during any future meetings.

The Planning Board had scheduled a public hearing on the Pole Hill "Waterford Place" development last week, to consider requiring modifications to the subdivision plans in light of the potential soil erosion problems.

That hearing was cancelled, however, when Marden announced that lots on the subdivision had already been mortgaged to the Arlington Trust Company. Approved subdivision plans cannot be modified after lots have been sold or mortgaged, Gilmore explained.

The planners approved definitive plans for the controversial development last August. Negotiations between Kalogianis and the town for a land swap that would have preserved Pole Hill as open space were recently abandoned

School Positions Approved

The School Committee approved the first personnel actions of the new year Tuesday night, voting to okay four new positions and one resignation during a meeting at the Shawsheen School building.

Two new permanent substitute teachers were approved by the schoolmen: Karen Kennedy of Danvers, and Michael Marcoux of Andover. Kennedy will serve as a physical education teacher at the high school at $12,983/year (Bachelor's, step one), replacing J. Axelrod, who is on a maternity leave of absence. Marcoux will work in the high school guidance department at $14,270/year (Master's, step one), replacing J. Roderio, also on a maternity leave of absence.

Kathleen Salvi of Andover was approved as parent coordinator for the Title I reading project, on an on-call basis, at $4.50/hour. She currently works as an instructional aide in the program, and will continue in that role in addition to her new responsibilities. Her appointment is dependent upon continued federal funding.

And Frank Marchese of Everett was approved as a maintenance/security worker at $13,258 per year (grade 15, step one). He replaces K. McGuire, who transferred to a junior custodial position. Marchese's appointment is subject to a one-year probationary period.

The committee also accepted the resignation of high school instructional aide Jeannie Carew, effective Jan. 1. Carew, who worked in the English department 35 hours per week, has left to accept other employment. She joined the school department as an aide in December, 1978.

Home Rule Measure

Governor's Pen Gives Schoolmen Hope For Budgetary Relief

By Sue Aucella Deacon

A stroke of the governor's pen Tuesday may be the salvation of Andover's fiscal 1983 school budget, the School Committee observed happily Tuesday night. They reserved further jubilation, however, until Andover voters have their say.

Gov. King signed into law home-rule legislation that will let communities modify Proposition 2½. Under the new law, the selectmen must call for a referendum with a two-thirds vote, and two-thirds of the voters must approve any changes in the tax-cutting law in Andover.

The schoolmen have been hoping that home-rule legislation, originally proposed by Andover Rep. Gerald Cohen, would become law, to save the school budget from possible "devastation" under 2½ this year.

If the selectmen call for a referendum — possibly on the annual election ballot in March — voters may approve several options that could loosen Prop. 2½'s stranglehold on the school budget, including:

- exempting debt service incurred prior to Nov. 4, 1980 from the two and one-half percent limit on property tax increases

- exempting debt service incurred since Nov. 4, 1980 from the two and one-half percent levy limit

- increasing the levy limit from two and one-half to five percent

In addition, the new law will let still-growing communities like Andover benefit from growth in their tax bases.

The option most likely to benefit the school budget would be the exemption of new debt service from 2½'s limits, Chairman Joseph Finn said, because debt service on the $13.72 million school building project threatens to sink the fiscal '83 school budget.

When the building project was approved, he explained, "it was expected to be outside the operating budget of the school budget." But unless it is modified, Prop. 2½ would require that debt service to be included in the school budget — and "there is no way under the sun that could be done without devastating the school system," Finn said.

"This is a very significant issue in the town, and in the history of the town," he added. "It has to go to the townspeople. I hope the board of selectmen see it in the same light."

The committeemen plan to take a more detailed look at the options now open to them at their next meeting, scheduled for Jan. 19. They may then ask the selectmen to vote on calling a referendum during the selectmen's Jan. 25 meeting.

Each option would be contained in a separate referendum question. The selectmen must act by mid-February to get referendum questions on the March ballot.

Facing a Jan. 15 deadline for submitting an estimated budget figure to the town manager, the committeemen voted unanimously for $14.9 million, the highest figure they have been shown this year. Once a budget figure is submitted it may be decreased, but not increased, Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert explained.

That budget would fund the same services provided in the schools this year, although it represents a seven percent increase over this year's budget. Seifert called it "the lowest first pass we've ever had."

...A seven per cent increase is the "lowest first pass we have ever had."

Supt. Seifert

Committee member Donald Robb emphasized that the figure represents "mythical dollars," since the committee has not yet been presented a detailed budget for review. That number is merely "as good a place to start as any," he said. "We will be looking at the budget program by program, and dollar by dollar."

Richard Neal said it seemed "reasonable" to "start at the point where we are now," while Michael Giammusso said he would be unwilling to "go below the status quo budget before I absolutely had to."

And if voters do modify Proposition 2½, Finn added, "those dollars ($14.9 million) will closely approximate the amount of money that would be available to the schools."

The committee has discussed two other budget estimates during the past month. The first is $14.6 million, based on the assumption that debt service would be exempted from 2½. That would require cuts of approximately $287,000 from the current budget.

The last estimate, labeled the "worst case" figure, is $12.6 million, based on the assumption that 2½ will remain unmodified. That budget would require cuts of more than $2 million.

The schoolmen plan to work with both the "best case" and "worst case" estimates throughout the budget process in the coming weeks before annual town meeting.

Even if voters approve modifications to 2½ in March, the school department still faces "a very substantial problem," Seifert told the committee: the worst case budget may require 100 lay-offs — and the town is legally required to send out pink slips by April 15.

Annual town meeting, which must approve the school budget, will not convene until April 28. Uncertainty about the future on such a large scale is creating "an organizational climate problem" in the schools, the superintendent said.

Committeeman Won't Be Candidate

School Committeeman John S. Eaton announced during Tuesday night's committee meeting that he will not seek a second three-year term on the committee, echoing Chairman Joseph Finn's feelings that with continuing budget crises, "There isn't much gratification to the position any longer."

Reading from a prepared statement, Eaton said he had originally intended to make "a six-year commitment" to the committee, but after three years no longer wants to serve on the school board.

The committeeman expressed feelings similar to those of Chairman Finn, who last week announced he would not seek reelection. Eaton joined the committee with hopes of instituting new educational programs, he said. But those hopes were thwarted, first by the four percent tax cap, and later by Proposition 2½.

Noting that he has found himself "on the short end of many votes" during the past three years, Eaton said he would "give some of the militants a chance to run for the committee, and wish them success."

Eaton pledged his full support to the committee and promised to work through March, when his term will end, to prepare next year's school budget.

"Thanks for the opportunity to serve," he concluded. "It has truly been a unique experience."

Building Group Head Seeks School Post

Kenneth Gropper, 39, of 10 Mohawk Road, chairman of the School Building Committee, announced this week that he will seek one of two vacant seats on the School Committee during the annual town election in March.

Gropper, a graduate of Long Island University, has been president of Management Consulting Group of Andover, a health care management consulting firm, for three years. A native of Pittsburgh, Penn., he has lived in Andover for the past six years.

Gropper's candidacy for the three-year term represents his first run for public office. He was appointed to the building committee by former Town Manager Jared S.A. Clark based largely on his "financial background," Gropper says.

His commitment to the building project is one reason for his candidacy, Gropper says. "Having shepherded the school building program through four town meetings, I feel I have an obligation to see the entire program, not only through the completion of construction, but through the utilization of the facilities."

As a member and chairman of the building committee, he adds, "I have gained a great deal of insight into the operation of the school system, and I feel I have a well-grounded understanding of what the administration is attempting to accomplish, and what the community demands of the system."

Gropper and his wife, Andrea, are the parents of a two-year-old son, Eric.

He is the first to announce his candidacy for a school committee position this year.

New Bus Contracts Awarded

The school committee awarded new contracts to three bus contractors Tuesday night, but not without some debate, resulting in a three-two vote.

The new contractors will drive three routes added to the bus routes in October, after annual contracts had already been awarded. Those routes were added when parents protested transportation cutbacks, claiming some children were forced to walk to school along unsafe streets.

The routes have been driven by three contractors under a temporary agreement since October. Those temporary agreements expire with the contract awarding Tuesday; the new contracts will run through June 30.

Chairman Joseph Finn and Richard Neal voted against awarding the contracts. Finn noted that one of the contractors driving the route temporarily had submitted a bid "substantially lower" than the next three low bidders Business Manager Francis Paul recommended to the committee.

Paul explained that that contractor has seven buses, and the school committee's bid specifications prohibit contractors with more than six buses from submitting bids. The contractor has been allowed to drive the route temporarily because it was an "emergency" situation, Paul said, and no other contractor was willing to take the temporary route.

The chairman suggested that the bid specification could be waived in the interest of saving money, and the three contracts be put out to bid again.

While that suggestion "makes sense," the business manager said, he explained that it would be difficult to rebid the contracts because the low bids have already been made public — creating "a sticky wicket."

Committeeman Donald Robb maintained that awarding the three contracts and revising the bid specifications were two separate issues that should not be "mixed." He suggested it would be more appropriate to consider revising the bid specs at a later date than to put the three contracts back out to bid now.

Finn argued that it "seems inconsistent" to allow a seventh bus on a temporary basis, and then refuse that contractor's bid — especially when it could save the school money. However, Finn and Neal were outvoted by Robb, John Eaton and Michael Giammusso.

The committeemen also signed the bus contracts they awarded last summer. That formality was behind schedule, Paul explained, because of the time spent solving "transportation problems" last fall. Those contracts will run for three years, starting July 1, 1981.

No Objections To Deadline Extension

Massachusetts Refusetech, Inc. (MRI) has agreed to extend its Dec. 31, 1981 deadline for communities to sign a solid waste disposal agreement until Feb. 28, the selectmen learned last week.

As a condition of a service agreement between MRI and the Northeast Solid Waste Council, municipalities were to promise MRI a total of 280,000 tons of solid waste to be processed per year. As of early last week, approximately 230,000 tons had been committed, Acting Town Manager Tony Torrisi told the selectmen.

Several communities had indicated that they needed more time before signing the agreement, Torrisi said, so MRI agreed to the two-month extension. Some 18 communities had already signed the agreement, and another seven were authorized to sign it, he added.

Torrisi assured the board that the solid waste project is "solvent" and "moving right along." MRI is proceeding with plans to build and finance its multi-million dollar disposal plant in North Andover, he reported. The selectmen voiced no objections to the extension.

The selectmen authorized the town manager to sign a 20-year contract last April, after a long review of the MRI and competing proposals by a solid waste disposal study committee. Annual town meeting authorized the town to enter into a regional solid waste disposal agreement in 1979.

About 50 communities within a 25-mile radius of the plant are expected to contract with MRI. The plant is expected to be in operation in 1985.

If your car begins to skid during snowy conditions, the Auto Club of Merrimack Valley reminds drivers not to slam on the brakes. Ease up on the accelerator and steer in the same direction as the skid. As soon as you've regained control, return the steering wheel to a straight position. Don't oversteer, since this will only cause the car to skid in the opposite direction.

A Bit Of Inconsistency

A decision last month on the part of three members of the board of selectmen seems to be the type of ruling which could open the doors to an abundance of problems, should townspeople in general feel compelled to follow suit.

Early in December, shortly after the all-night parking ban went into effect, four Enmore Street residents requested exemption from the regulation based on having had a similar privilege a year ago. Their properties have no driveways or garages and apparently a spare lot once utilized has been developed over the past couple of years.

Police Chief James Johnson and Public Works Director Robert E. McQuade recommended against the exemption, for justifiable reasons, but found support from only Chairman Norma Gammon and Selectman Donald Byrne.

Selectmen Edward M. Harris, Gerald Silverman and Susan T. Poore all supported the request of four residents of a single Andover street.

The police chief pointed out that the town has an obligation to the 30,000 residents of the community who abide by the winter parking regulation and make provisions to get their car(s) off the street. DPW Director McQuade pointed out that even with the cars parked on the sidewalk on Enmore Street, plowing operations are hampered, and concurring with Chief Johnson that the rest of the town has to make provisions to conform to the bylaw.

Their thoughts are well-founded.

It seems the height of inconsistency for a board which is pledged to look out for the interests of the town as a whole to bow to the requests of a few for special consideration.

It would not be surprising to see a deluge of requests for special exemption based on what many in the community have to do each winter season between December and April.

There remain innumerable homes in Andover with no garages or driveways, or, in general, facilities for off-street parking.

For these people winter means a time of ripping up their lawns to conform to the law, or bearing extra expense to find a parking area, in either case walking a little further each day to and from the car in all kinds of weather.

But, they do it, because a town bylaw says the vehicle can't be on the street for more than an hour after midnight.

There have been occasions when the rules have been relaxed in late winter in an effort to allow preservation of lawns when thawing conditions exist. But such action is rare and the residents make provisions for a full winter of conformance with the law.

That, quite frankly, is as it should be.

If the townspeople in general can bear the burden and expense of making sure their vehicles are off the street, then there should be no exceptions.

To act otherwise, as a majority of the board did, is simply an action of inconsistency in service to the town.

Mrs. Michael Carroll of Chandler road, West Andover, was recently injured by being thrown from a sleigh. While turning a corner the outfit was overturned and Mrs. Carroll received a severe shaking up, but has entirely recovered.

The best news that will come to the people in the manufacturing establishments of Andover at this Christmas season will be the change in hours of labor. Beginning with the announcement by the Ballardvale mills several weeks ago, the movement now extends to the Tyer Rubber company and to Smith and Dove mills. These two establishments announce to their employees today that, beginning Dec. 31, their works will run 55 hours a week, ten hours a day for five days a week and five hours on Saturday, with the same wages per week that is now paid.

An urgent appeal for water was made by the committee representing the City of Lawrence at a meeting of the local water board which was held in the Town house Wednesday night, when it was explained that something must be done within the next few days as the supply has been nearly exhausted and it is at present a matter of life or death to the inhabitants of Lawrence.

The A.V.I.S. has awarded for the school flower gardens one of the first prizes of $1.00 to Miss Elizabeth Ferguson and two third prizes of 25 cents to Fred and Dorothy Shattuck.

The names of 464 Andover voters, both male and female, will be removed from the town voting lists before town meeting in March, unless they preregister as residents of the town. Some have moved out of town since the last list has been brought up to date. Some have died. Others, all men, have not paid their poll tax and lose their vote for that reason.

The annual banquet of the Punchard high school football team was held Tuesday evening in the high school when the team was served with a tasty meal by the girls of the senior class who prepared the meal for the boys. Moving pictures of some of games were shown.

Three Andover people were aboard the ocean liner Tuscania which was struck by a storm in mid-ocean last week and during which one woman was fatally injured and 25 other passengers less seriously hurt. The local people were bound for Scotland for the holidays. No word was received of their being hurt.

Andover's selectmen went down to the State House Wednesday to attend a hearing on the discontinuance of a morning train from Salem to Lowell via Lowell Junction in Andover, because although this train carries several Andover, Lawrence and Haverhill students to Lawrence from that point, the B & M wished to discontinue it on the grounds that it does not pay.

The "Burt plan" has been approved in principle by the School Committee for the Junior Prom next spring. The plan, which provides after-prom entertainment until well into the morning, was started in Methuen by Theodore Burt, a member of that town's School Committee, as a means of keeping the teen-agers at home after the Prom.

Over $1,000 has already been raised here for Hungarian refugees coming to this area. Selectman Stafford Lindsay, chairman of the fund raising appeal in this community and a member of the Greater Lawrence Steering Committee, said an organized special gifts appeal is being carried out.

"Let's finish the job" will be the battle cry of the 1957 March of Dimes this January, it was reported this week by Woodrow Crowley, co-chairman of the Andover Infantile Drive, on his return from a regional conference of March of Dimes leaders in Boston.

Bids for mail messenger service between the Andover Post Office, Boston and Maine station and Shawsheen Village station will be accepted at the Andover Post Office until 2 p.m. on Jan. 3, 1957.

In the shortest school committee meeting of the year, with the superintendent unexpectedly absent due to an appendectomy, the only official actions included acceptance of bus bids lower than previously submitted and the appointment of a winter term basketball coach for West Junior High School, Arthur Yancy, an Oklahoma University graduate.

Superintendent of Schools Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert is doing very well, minus his appendix, at Lawrence General Hospital following an appendectomy Tuesday. He was taken to the hospital Tuesday morning, for observation, and operated on at 5:30 p.m. after diagnosis of acute appendicitis was confirmed.

With all the crazy weather we've been having, it is important for you to understand that if schools are closed because of snow, there will be no hot lunch program for senior citizens that day. Remember—no school, no lunch!

Every Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 p.m. there is line dancing at The Haven. There is a registration fee of five dollars, but it is oodles of fun and great exercise—and if you just want to watch others, that's free! Come on down! And Friday mornings there is room for you in the "Exercise for Fun and Fitness" class. It is important to keep limber these days. Helps you to cope. And after all that exercise, on Friday afternoons there is Bingo at the center.

If you've just retired, if you are new to the community—why not come down to Andover's senior center—The Haven, 11 Essex St.—and get acquainted. There are lots of friends you haven't met yet waiting to meet you.

Martin Luther King Day, Jan. 15, the center will be closed, as are all town offices. There will be no lunch that day and the Weebus will not function.

On January 18 Roy Luca will take you travelling with an illustrated tour of European art centers. The program starts at 2 o'clock and is free.

There is still some room on the bus taking people to see Le Grand David and his Magic Company, Sunday, Jan. 24, at the Cabot Street Theatre. There will also be lunch at the Danversport Yacht Club and all for $16. But don't drag your feet getting down to make your reservation. You don't want to be too late!

And while you're there, you could sign up for the trip to Lowell Feb. 13 for the performance of "Two for the Seesaw" and lunch, too. All for $14.

If you're feeling a little more affluent, you might also choose to see that much heralded show at the Shubert Theatre in Boston—"Annie"—on February 24. Orchestra seats will cost you $25, including transportation. Just sign up at The Haven.

And to help you "think Spring," there is the maple sugar party in Jaffree, N.H., March 10, to look forward to. There will be lunch at the Woodbound Inn plus sugaring off and a tour. All for $15. Save your pennies now for this annual funfest.

The Department of Community Services Winter/Spring program will begin the week of Monday, Feb. 22 with registration taking place on Wednesday, Feb. 10, at the East Jr. and West Jr. High Schools from 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. The booklet, which advertises all programs and special events, will be mailed to Andover homes by the first week in February.

WEEKLY SPECIAL

Gen. Dozier was perfect target for Red Brigades

By JACK ANDERSON and JOE SPEAR

WASHINGTON -- The terrorist group that kidnapped U.S. Army Gen. James Dozier in Italy is no stranger to American counterintelligence agencies. In fact, U.S. anti-terrorist experts have been concerned for some time that the Red Brigades would make an assassination or kidnap attempt against a high-ranking American.

A report compiled by the Air Force Office of Special Investigations explains that Americans are a favorite target of groups like the Red Brigades. American military personnel are particularly tempting, and officials of NATO are also a prime target of the Red Brigades terrorists.

These preferences made Gen. Dozier a bull's-eye on the Red Brigades' target. He was an American, a military officer, and the highest ranking NATO general in Southern Europe.

There is more in the Air Force anti-terrorist report, and it bodes no good for Gen. Dozier. The Red Brigades terrorists are utterly ruthless in their choice of targets, according to the experts. "The terrorists see no victim as innocent and no potential operation unthinkable," the document states.

The Air Force report was written more than three years ago, but it accurately predicted the problems Italian police would encounter trying to get solid leads on Gen. Dozier's kidnapping -- or even accurately identifying his kidnappers.

The reason for this is that the Red Brigades have grown street-smart over the years. They learned that terrorist groups with famous individual leaders were vulnerable to destruction by police.

So the Red Brigades decentralized their organization. They are now a coalition of loosely united, virtually autonomous strike forces. No member of one group knows very much about any other group. There are no key leaders whose elimination would destroy the whole organization.

That's what happened in the Dozier kidnapping. Three suspected members of the Red Brigades were captured shortly after the crime. But under interrogation, they revealed no knowledge of the group that carried out the Dozier kidnapping. Italian police are about ready to concede that the three suspects really may not know anything about any Red Brigades group outside their own.

WHAT'S NEXT? Here are some of the events we foresee occurring in 1982:

- Informal, unofficial messages have been passed between President Reagan and Soviet President Brezhnev. We predict these will lead to a summit meeting. The two leaders, we believe, will reach at least one dramatic agreement. The Russians will concede to a withdrawal of their troops from Afghanistan. The United States, in turn, will accept Afghanistan as part of the Soviet sphere. Thus, the Kremlin will get out of an awkward predicament, and the White House will be relieved that Soviet troops are no longer in dangerous proximity to the Persian Gulf.

- In the Middle East, we predict, the public will be hearing a lot about a little village in the northeast corner of the Sinai called Yamit. It was settled by Israeli colonists after the 1967 war. Israel is scheduled to give back the entire Sinai to Egypt in April, but the settlers at Yamit insist they're going to remain where they are. Watch for a serious flare-up at Yamit. In the end, we predict, the Israeli army will be forced to move the settlers out of the Sinai.

- We see a rocky road ahead for President Reagan. The economy will remain shaky and unemployment will continue to rise. The Democrats will start referring to Reagan as the Herbert Hoover of this generation. All this should bring Democratic gains in the November elections. But the Senate, we predict, will remain under Republican control.

- Scandals will continue to plague the administration. The inspectors general are supposed to uncover waste and fraud; instead, some of them have been covering it up. We foresee scandals inside the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, the Housing and Urban Development Department and the Interior Department.

- We predict that Labor Secretary Ray Donovan and Interior Secretary James Watt will depart the government; that self-suspended national security adviser Richard Allen won't come back, and that budget boss David Stockman will quietly resign.

HEADLINES & FOOTNOTES: Gen. David C. Jones, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, spent his Christmas in the Far East. And the Pentagon allowed Jones to take along his wife and son -- at the taxpayers' expense. Jones and his family visited Japan, Hong Kong, the Philippines, South Korea and Hawaii.

- Saudi Arabia's royal family is afraid that trouble in the Persian Gulf could endanger their oil supply, so that country is quietly preparing to establish its own oil reserve. The Saudis plan to construct secret reservoirs -- some in caves and abandoned wells -- to hold a 150-day supply of oil. That's about 1.5 billion barrels, worth $45 billion.

- The General Services Administration, the government housekeeping agency, could use a little house cleaning itself. During one recent year, according to federal auditors, the GSA paid out nearly $10 million for office and warehouse space that no one was using.

West Parish, St. Robert's Undefeated

By Rick Harrison

After just two weeks of action, two-time defending champ West Parish A and St. Robert's A remained the only undefeated teams in the Intermediate Gold Division of the Andover Church Basketball League.

West A stopped St. Robert's B, 32-19, St. Robert's A trimmed St. Augustine's A, 33-12, and St. Robert's C dumped St. Augustine's B, 34-22, in recent action at the West Elementary School gym.

West Parish A and St. Robert's A were scheduled to meet in an early-season showdown this week.

West Parish A, 32-19

Guard Chris Poor and center Kurt Burzlaff combined to score 21 points, lifting West Parish A to its 21st victory in the last 24 games.

The winners inched ahead 6-5 after one quarter, and built the lead to 20-7 by halftime as Poor and Burzlaff led a 14-2 surge with six points apiece.

The rivals then traded baskets over the last two periods.

Chris Poor emerged as game-high marksman with 11 points, while Kurt Burzlaff chipped in 10.

Tim Boudreau and Bill O'Brien added four points each, and Mike Lane tossed through all three of his points in the opening period.

Pat Kelley, Rob Thompson and Kurt Nickerson also played well.

Mike Klinger paced St. Robert's B with 7 points, Steve Colitz and Dave Dilling added 4 apiece, Joey Massaro 2 and single free throws were swished by Sean Melia and Scott Plamondon.

St. Robert's A, 33-12

The winners used a balanced seven-player attack, and broke open a tie game with a 9-2 second quarter surge enroute to the triumph over St. Augustine's A.

Larry Middleton and Matt Gibson combined for seven second period points, as St. Robert's A grabbed a 15-8 halftime cushion.

A 14-0 fourth quarter explosion, sparked by Gerry Nassif and Chris Concerni, enabled St. Robert's to win going away.

John Perry shared game-high honors with 8 points for the victors, while Gibson chipped in 7, Jeff Smith 4, Nassif 4, Concerni 4 and Middleton 4.

Mosa Kaleel completed the attack with a last period basket.

Paul Davies guided St. Augustine's A, scoring all eight of its points in the opening half, while second half buckets were contributed by Sean Derrah and Mark Russell.

Todd McAllister, Drew Dunn, Scott Kirwin, Jose Guerra and Brian Brussard also played well for St. Augustine's A.

St. Robert's C, 34-22

St. Robert's C, which dropped a tough three-point decision to West Parish A in its opener, bounced back to handle St. Augustine's B behind the sharpshooting of Gary Marotta.

The winners inched ahead 7-4 after one quarter, led 17-12 at halftime, and hiked the lead to 23-16 after three periods. An 11-6 fourth stanza advantage sealed the win.

Gary Marotta led all marksmen with 16 points, 10 of them in the second period, while Brian Kobelski netted 8 points.

Twin brother Cliff Marotta finished with four points, and single fieldgoals were notched by Jim Tanin, John Davis and Jim Davis.

Chris Colsia once again powered St. Augustine's B, as the Gold Division scoring leader pocketed 12 points.

Mike Corkery added seven markers, Scotty Wallace had a fourth period basket, and Matt Dufresne collected a free throw.

Kevin Henderson and Brendan Lynch were defensive stalwarts for St. Augustine's B.

Two Senior Teams Undefeated

31

THE TOWNSMAN, JANUARY 7, 1982

Christ Church edged St. Augustine's A 23-22, St. Robert's A trimmed St. Robert's C 28-19, St. Augustine's B overpowered Temple Emanuel 41-21, South nipped West Parish 25-23 and Ballardvale A toppled Ballardvale B 24-15 in Andover Church Basketball League Senior Division play last week.

The results left St. Augustine's B and St. Robert's B, who drew a bye, as the only teams undefeated after three rounds of action.

Christ, 23-22

Christ Church, behind the 1-2 offensive punch of Bill Earnshaw and Keith Dauber, held on for a tight victory over hard-luck St. Augustine's A, whose previous loss was by two points in overtime.

Christ, behind 4-2 after one period and tied 10-10 at halftime, took an 18-16 lead after three periods, increased it to 23-18 with one minute to go and then staved off a rally by St. A's that just fell short to register their first win of the season.

Earnshaw and Dauber finished the game with 9 and 8 points, respectively, Roger Fisk chipped in with 4 and Mark Polakow contributed a second quarter basket.

Mike Morris was game-high with 12 points for St. A, Joe Murphy and Jim Marocco added four markers apiece and Mike O'Connell netted a solo fieldgoal.

St. Robert's A, 28-19

St. Robert's A led 6-4, 16-12 and 16-15 at the first three check points before exploding for a 12-4 final quarter edge over St. Robert's C.

John Veilleux was the big gun for the victors with 11 points, Ed Melia added 9, Mike Convey 4, John Terrion 2 and Dan Bovenzi 2.

Scott White led the balanced offense of the C team with 6 points, Paul Ellis and John Williams swished 4 points each, Billy Dutton 3 and Mike Griffin 2.

St. Augustine's B, 41-21

St. Augustine's B (3-0) bolted to a 14-1 first quarter lead, stretched that to 22-5 at halftime, and coasted home over the final two periods.

Eight different players hit the point column for the victors, with Brian Sheehy swishing 13 points and Bob Scanlon eight to lead the way.

Jeff Wolnik chipped in 6 points, Steve McGettrick and Rich Burke accounted for 4 points apiece and 2 points were scored by Scott McNamara, Tim Scanlon and Tom Brand.

Dave Eckman led the answering fire for Temple Emanuel with nine points, while Adam Liberman and Joel Klaiman notched six markers each.

South, 25-23

West Parish enjoyed a 15-10 halftime lead, but a diversified third quarter attack enabled South to out-score West Parish 11-0 enroute to the comeback triumph.

Dave Sorrie and Gary Finlayson shared team-high honors for South with 8 points apiece, John Todt flipped through 6 and Rob Hendry scored 3.

Scott Kelley of West Parish was the game-high scorer with 12 points, Larry Aiello added 5, while Nick Bates, Chris Abell and Eric Nickerson added single buckets.

Ballardvale A, 24-15

Jeff Znamierowski tallied six of his game-high 11 points in the first quarter as Ballardvale A grabbed a 8-6 first period lead and pulled away slowly but surely over Ballardvale B. It was 11-7 at halftime and 19-9 after three.

Scott Jangro followed Znamierowski in the victor's scoring parade with 6 points, Tim Nolan netted 4, Dana Belpedio 2 and Cindy Connors swished a free throw.

Scott Stephens led the counterattack for the B team with 7 points, Tom Darling accounted for 4, Greg Baker 2 and Russell Lowe 2.

Intermediate Action Shows Balance

By Rick Harrison

The 13-team Andover Church Basketball Intermediate Blue Division has shown tremendous balance thus far.

After just two weeks of play at the West Junior High gym, only three teams are still unbeaten and six of the 12 games have been decided by margins of three points or less.

Temple Emanuel, Christ Church A and St. Robert's F are the lone undefeated squads, as Temple nipped Christ Church B 27-26, Christ A slapped Ballardvale A 25-16 and St. Robert's F nudged West Parish B 17-15 in recent action.

In other games, Ballardvale B edged St. Robert's D 21-20, south B trimmed South A 18-8 and St. Robert's E hammered St. Augustine C 34-6.

Seven of the 13 teams stand at 1-1.

Temple Emanuel, 27-26

This was a game of contrasting halves, with Christ B inched ahead 5-4 at intermission before both teams unloaded the heavy offensive artillery in the last two periods.

Temple Emanuel outgunned C-C 23-21 in the second half to pull out the exciting triumph, with guard Erik Frank and Jeff Bolan leading the assault in the fourth quarter.

Frank finished with 11 points, six of them in the final frame, while Bolan netted four of his 10 in that period.

Contributing solo baskets were Mike Englehart, Scott Godess and Mickey Shallop.

Also playing well for the winners were Kristen Cuervels and Mark Leinson.

John Russell led the way for tough-luck Christ B, tossing through 11 points, while Bob Ashworth notched 6 and Eric Williams 4.

Stefan Tomlinson and Jeff DiDonato pumped in second half buckets, Tad Lee converted a free throw and Mark Angelos turned in a solid defensive effort.

South B, 18-8

South B took an 8-4 first quarter lead, and then pulled away from intra-church rival South A slowly but surely the rest of the way.

Chris Eggert, Leo Fontaine and Dave Milne sparked the attack with four points apiece, Milne netting both his baskets in the opening stanza.

Jim Hendry, Mark Rao and Steve Poor flipped through single baskets to complete the South B offense.

Dave Wade hooped all four of his points in the third quarter to propel South A, while Al Boucher and Rob Schmidt delivered first period fieldgoals.

St. Robert's E, 34-6

Josh Malitsky may have established an ACBL record for St. Robert's E, as he poured through an incredible 18 fourth quarter points to lift his team to its lopsided decision over St. Augustine's C.

The winners were clinging to a slim 10-6 lead after three quarters, but a ball-hawking St. Robert's E defense produced numerous steals that set Malitsky up for a series of uncontested driving layups.

Josh hadn't scored a point in the first three sessions, but he emerged as game-high with 18.

Mike Smith and Jim Murphy chipped in four points each, and other marksmen were Jim Spinelli, Brendan McGrail and Brad Reghitto.

Kevin Foley hooped four points and Pete Kannam fired in two for St. Augustine's C, whose other leaders included Pay Hayes, Mike Harrison and Dave Carrier.

Christ A, 25-16

Christ A and Ballardvale United A battled on even terms for three periods, with the rivals locked in a 12-12 standoff entering the fourth quarter.

In that stanza five different C-C players pooled shooting resources to spur their club on a game-winning 13-4 run.

Bart Kalkstein was game-high scorer for Christ A with 8 points, Bob Beanland added 6, Jon Pratt and John Knowles 4 each, Dave Lewis 2 and Fred Newcombe swished a foul shot.

Matt Corbett and Bob Wood added consistent floor games for the victors.

Mike Hardock popped through six points and Dave Rehe added four to guide BU.

Andy Meckel, Mike Mooney and Steve Smith netted single buckets to complete the United assault.

St. Robert's F, 17-15

St. Robert's F and West Parish B were deadlocked at halftime and at the end of three periods, but a 6-4 St.

Robert's edge in the final quarter proved to be the slim difference.

The winners expertise at the free throw line also helped. West B held a 7-6 edge in fieldgoals, but St. Robert's F managed a 5-1 advantage at the charity stripe.

Tim Melia and Mike Ancotta notched 4 points each for the victors, while Greg DeVoir pocketed 3, John took the early lead as Chris Levis picked up Mark Harrington's rebound and fired it home midway through the first period. Marocco set up the tying goal for Indian Ridge as he skated the puck down the right side and sent a perfect pass to Dan Cyr in the slot early in the second period. Haffner's received outstanding defensive efforts from Andy Jowett and Greg Kinsky and great goaltending from Mike Murray as they gave undefeated Indian Ridge all they could handle. Scott Deery and Scott Jangro turned in strong games at defense for Indian Ridge.

PeeWee Division

Rolf's 7 - Andover Chimney 4

Chris Tetler scored three goals and assisted on two others to lead Rolf's to a 7-4 victory over Andover Chimney Sunday at Brooks School. Ed Carbone (2), Vin Ditore and Todd Bennett rounded out Rolf's scoring. Mike Liporto, Brian Ritterhaus and Tim Smith scored for Andover Chimney.

M & M Canopy 5 - Clark Motors 5

Mauro Pappalardo's fourth goal of the game at 9:21 of the third period gave M & M Canopy a 5-5 tie with Clark Motors Sunday at Brooks. Mark Livesay led Clark Motors with three goals and an assist. Dave Blank scored two goals for Clark with Taylor Ongaro and Dave Pedini each picking up an assist. Tim Walsh turned in an outstanding game at defense for Clark. Brian Novelline came up with the save of the season stopping the high scoring Pappalardo on a breakaway late in the game. John Toomey and Frank Morey combined for the other M & M goal.

Don't peephole drive this winter, says the Auto Club of Merrimack Valley. Good visibility is especially critical during inclement weather. Always clear each window completely of snow and ice before setting out. Use an ice scraper or commercial deicing product, but never pour hot water over ice windows—they could crack!

The year 1934 saw the production of an immensely strong synthetic fiber later patented under the name nylon. It was first used as bristled for toothbrushes.

Accredited

Following a meeting of the Executive Committee of the New England Association of Schools and Colleges on Dec. 10, it was announced that Bradford College has been reaccredited by the association for a period of five years.

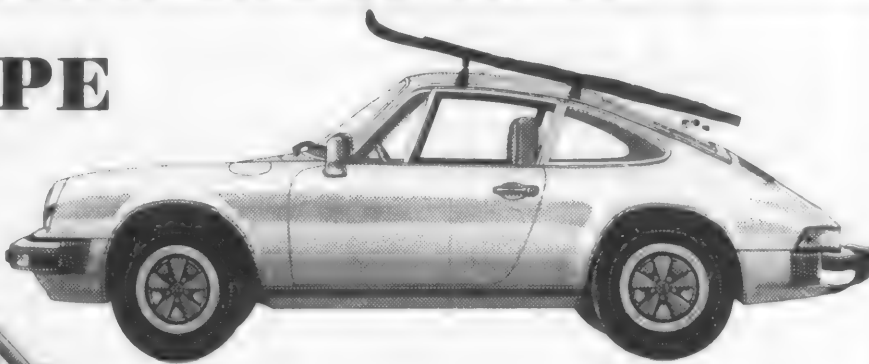

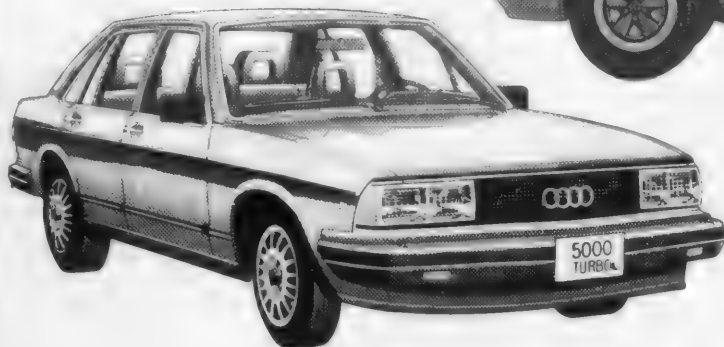

In a letter to President Inge Heckel, the Commission on Institutions of Higher Education commended Bradford College for "significant strengths in admissions efforts, continued development as a four-year college, recent success of annual fund-raising and effective fiscal management."

The accreditation was granted after the committee's evaluation of the college's Self-Study Report, visits to the campus by representatives of the NEASC during the 1980-81 academic year and upon the recommendation of the commission.

Squirt B

Andover's Squirt B travelling hockey team recorded its third league victory in succession on Saturday, Dec. 26, by scoring five third period goals on the way to a 5-2 win over Lynnfield. Earlier in the week the Bs journeyed to the Assabet Valley Arena in Maynard where they were flat and lost a 4-3 non-league contest to a less talented Sudbury squad.

Sudbury 4 - Andover 3

After a slow-paced opening 10 minutes, Sudbury scored the game's first goal on a deflection off an Andover defenseman. Nineteen seconds later, Timmy Sullivan and Eddie Chaisson broke in alone to tie the score at 1-1, with Sullivan getting the goal off a nice feed from Chaisson. Andover's defensemen, led by Todd Allard and Matt Tanner, helped keep the Sudbury's first period scoring down by consistently sweeping clear Sudbury rebounds and passes.

Eleven seconds into the second period, Chaisson made it 2-1 Andover when he converted a good lead pass from Michael DiStefano. Andover then had several chances to extend the lead but open net shots went wide or hit the posts. Randy Moreau, John Constantine, Bryan Smith and Danny Surdam let the offensive flurry. Sudbury tied it up at 2-2 with less than two minutes left in the period. The score came on a rebound after Michelle DiStefano had made a good skate save on the initial shot.

Two Sudbury goals early in the third period, one of them a fluke, made it 4-2 Sudbury. Andover's offense then came alive again and carried the play for the final 10 minutes of the game. With defensemen Jimmy Morris and Jonathan Shine rushing and playing the points very well, Andover got shot after shot off only to be frustrated by a combination of bad luck, goal posts and an agile Sudbury netminder. Andover's only third period score came with 2:40 left as Timmy Sullivan recorded his second goal of the game, again off a nice Eddie Chaisson feed. The game ended with Andover unsuccessfully storming the Sudbury net looking for the tying goal.

Andover 5 - Lynnfield 2

The Bs were cocky entering the Lynnfield game, having recorded an easy shutout the last time the two teams met. This victory was more difficult to earn, however, as Lynnfield shut the Bs down for two full periods while building a 2-0 lead. Lynnfield's goals came 40 seconds apart late in the first period and for two periods it looked as if the lead might hold up.

Michael DiStefano, John Constantine and Danny Surdam combined to give Andover its most effective line in the early going, but bad luck enabled them to chalk up only a series of near misses. The second period was nearly a repeat of the first, with Andover's offense being continually frustrated. Wing Bryan Smith had the best chance but his shot was stopped on an excellent save by the Lynnfield goalie.

Andover finally broke through in explosive fashion with five third period goals. Eddie Chaisson scored three times to lead the way. His first goal came on a breakaway 39 seconds into the period. Three minutes later Randy Moreau tied it up when he stole the puck behind the net, came out front and tucked it in the corner. Fifty-three seconds later Andover took a 3-2 lead on Chaisson's second goal, scored on the end of a good rush with linemates Timmy Sullivan and Derek Camarota. Sullivan and Camarota earned assists on the play. Three minutes after that Chaisson's third goal, this one on another breakaway, made it 4-2 Andover. While Andover was scoring the four goals, Michelle DiStefano came up with several good saves to maintain their lead. The final goal came on Camarota's breakaway with 1:07 left in the game. A lot of credit for the win should go to the B's four defensemen, Jonathan Shine, Jimmy Morris, Todd Allard and Matt Tanner, who bottled up Lynnfield's offense almost completely over the last two periods. The win moves the Bs into the upper half of the standings in the Danvers League.

Andover 9 - Triton 2

The game against Triton was Andover's all the way, led by Michael DiStefano's five points (3 goals, 2 assists) and Timmy Sullivan's four points (2 goals, 2 assists). Other multiple point scorers were Bryan Smith (2 goals) and Derek Camarota (1 goal, 1 assist). Michelle DiStefano played her usual strong game in goal, giving up only two breakaway scores.

Andover scored five times in the first period to salt it away. Sullivan scored his first goal three minutes into the game, snapping in a hard wrist shot after a nice lead pass from Michael DiStefano. On the next shift, Bryan Smith scored twice in 32 seconds to give Andover a 3-0 lead, first converting an excellent pass from behind the net by Randy Moreau and then redirecting a centering pass from John Constantine into the net. After a Triton breakaway score made it 3-1 at 6:18, DiStefano scored twice in 10 seconds to give Andover a 5-1 lead. His first goal was set by Sullivan and the second by Sullivan and Camarota. A second Triton breakaway made it 5-2 entering the second period.

Andover's four defensemen took control of the Triton offense in the second period and kept control for the remainder of the game. Jonathan Shine and Jimmy Morris and Todd Allard and Matt Tanner completely bottled up Triton and helped keep them off the scoreboard after the two first period goals. Andover's middle period scores came from Camarota (DiStefano) and Sullivan (unassisted).

Andover two more times in the third period for the final 9-2 count. The eighth Andover goal came when regular defensemen Shine and Tanner combined with winger Danny Surdam for a very effective forward line. Tanner scored the goal from in close after a nice setup from Shine. The final goal came on a breakaway as DiStefano completed his hat trick.

Andover 3 - Reading 2

The star of the victory over Reading was goalie Michelle DiStefano. She repeatedly came up with excellent saves, including four late in the game when she twice snuffed both shots by breakaway skaters and the rebound shots off the initial saves. The number two stars in the game went to each of the other 12 players on the team as they collectively put together one of their best games of the year. The B's overall record stands at 10-15-1, after a 1-9-0 start.

The first period's only score came 24 seconds after the start when right defenseman Jonathan Shine intercepted a Reading clearing pass, sidestepped a Reading forward while waiting for his teammates to clear the zone, and then fed center Derek Camarota who turned the Reading defenseman and snapped in a hard wrist shot into the net from the base of the right faceoff circle. The action was up and down for the rest of the period, with Michael DiStefano, John Constantine and Randy Moreau skating particularly well and generating a number of scoring chances which were stopped by the Reading goalie.

Eddie Chaisson gave Andover a 2-0 lead three minutes into the second period as he netted a nice centering pass by Camarota after Timmy Sullivan had carried the puck into the left corner and fed Camarota beside the net. Shortly after the goal, Bryan Smith's attempt to make it 3-0 was stopped from point blank range after a good pass out of the right corner by Danny Surdam. Defensemen Todd Allard and Matt Tanner played very well, particularly in the second period when they were out several times against Reading's first line, a late breakaway goal by Reading made it 2-1 entering the final period.

Forty-four seconds into the third period Camarota scored a "trailer" goal after Chaisson's breakaway shot was stopped. The goal gave Andover a little breathing room which proved to be needed. A minute after the goal, Reading was awarded its second goal on a disputed play. The referee ruled that a Reading shot had gone through a hole in the net and out the other side. The problem was that no one could find the hole and Michelle DiStefano was hugging the post on the side the shot allegedly went through on. In any event, the final minutes of the game were as exciting as any this season. Reading pulled its goalie but Andover was equal to the task. Four times Andover forwards stacked the blue line forcing dump passes which defensemen Jimmy Morris and Jonathan Shine promptly cleared. The buzzer sounded with Morris and Shine falling on a loose puck between the two faceoff circles in front of Michelle and Andover had a well-earned victory.

Andover 3 - Medford 3

The Squirt B hockey team played an excellent game on New Year's Day and came up with a 3-3 tie against Medford, one of the strongest teams in the Wilmington Youth Ice Arena League. After dominating play in the early going, Andover finally broke through after eight minutes when Derek Camarota and Timmy Sullivan jammed in the rebound of Eddie Chaisson's shot. Two minutes later Medford tied it up at 1-1, knocking a rebound past Michelle DiStefano after she had made one of several excellent saves she made during the game. Matty Tanner and Todd Allard were defensive standouts for Andover in the first period, breaking up several Medford rushes and consistently keeping the puck in the Medford zone with good point play.

The second period was a mirror image of the first, with Andover controlling play but taking nearly nine minutes to score. Michael DiStefano, Bryan Smith and Randy Moreau combined for Andover's most effective line in the period, racking up several excellent scoring chances. The Medford goalie was equal to the task though and Andover did not score until Camarota broke in alone with 3:28 left and put a backhander into the net. Like the first period, though, Medford came up with the equalizer about a minute later and the third period began with the teams tied at two goals each.

Medford scored the go ahead goal five minutes into the final period. Before the score Andover defenseman Jimmy Morris led two rushes into the Medford zone with wingers John Constantine and Danny Surdam which almost resulted in scores. Andover finally tied it up at 3-3 with three minutes left in the game when defenseman Jonathan Shine intercepted a Medford pass at center ice and fed Eddie Chaisson, breaking down the right side. Chaisson then fed Camarota in front and he put it away to gain the tie. The final three minutes of the game were marked by Andover's very good defensive play, led by Michael DiStefano's back-checking.

Ballet Classes

The Merrimack Valley Dance Collaborative, Inc., a non-profit, tax-exempt educational dance corporation, announces the Special Master Classes taught by Miss Anamarie Sarazin, principal dancer with the Boston Ballet Company. These master classes will be held on Sunday, Jan. 17, at the Dance Collaborative headquarters, 477 Essex St., Lawrence.

of North Andover the previous week. Some strong skating and earnest attacking provided only one goal, while the defense allowed six at the other end.

Haverhill scored first after a minute and a half of play. Thereafter, though, Andover seemed to have settled down and tied the game six minutes later. Regretably, all the subsequent scoring was in the Andover net, as an adventuresome defense left space behind for the Haverhill squad to show its paces. Meanwhile, Colin Nix, Brian Lane, Kevin Lane and Joey Ligouri were among the tireless—but unrewarded—members of the Andover side. It was a day when chances did not get converted into goals, and where lack of positional discipline made problems at both ends greater than they might have been. Andover's only score came from Sean Darwin, assisted by Ryan Moynihan.

At least the new year promises the opportunity for much fresh learning for the enthusiastic Mites.

To Offer Communications Course

The Andover Peer Counseling Project of the Andover Public Schools will offer a special course next semester entitled "Communication Training." This course will be open to all high school students and will meet once a week for 15 weeks during students' free periods. Communication Training will be the central component of an extensive evaluation the Andover Peer Counseling Project is about to undertake. This evaluation will lead to a possible validation by the department of education thus making the project a model program for the entire state and possibly the nation.

Communication Training will be co-taught by Robert Stern, project director, and Mimi Weisberg, director of outreach services. The goals of the course are to increase the students' self and other awareness, to increase the students' knowledge of various issues such as alcohol, drugs, divorce, depression, loneliness and peer pressure, and to increase the students' knowledge and effective use of interpersonal communication skills. Communications skills training is currently being incorporated into most training programs in business and government as well as being offered by many colleges nationwide. Many high schools are now offering similar courses and have found them to be very useful in helping school atmosphere and helping the participants to communicate more effectively with parents, peers and teachers.

Although communication training is a prerequisite to become a peer counselor, the course is open to all high school students whether or not they intend on becoming peer counselors. Students have not only found that Communication Training teaches them to help others and communicate more effectively, they have found that colleges and employers regard such training as a plus in the students' credentials.

Over 200 Andover students have completed similar training in recent years. Those who have gone on to become peer counselors have helped gain the Andover Peer Counseling Project the reputation of being one of the biggest and best programs of its kind.

As a federally funded program under the U.S. Dept. of Education ESEA Title IV-C, the Andover Peer Counseling Project must go through an extensive evaluation process. The Massachusetts Dept. of Education regulates this first stage of the evaluation which, if successful, will lead to validation. This validation (accreditation) is key to the project's future funding as well as making the project a model for other school systems statewide. If results of the evaluation are very successful, the project may become a model for the entire nation.

An evaluation consultant is currently being hired to perform the necessary testing and statistics for validation. Central to this evaluation is communication training. In order for the statistics to be accepted by the department of education, over 100 students are needed to sign up for training. Half of these students will go through training from February to June 1982, the other half will be used as a comparison group and will receive training first semester of next year. Due to the large number of students needed for training, the project is planning an extensive recruiting drive immediately following holiday vacation.

Interested students should contact Bob Stern or Mimi Weisberg at the high school.

REALTOR

MORTGAGE IS NOT A LOAN

Contrary to what most people think, a mortgage is not a loan. It is the pledging of property to a creditor as security for the payment of a debt. This simply means that, if you don't repay the loan as required, the lender can foreclose the loan and take over the property in satisfaction of the debt.

This is nothing to be frightened of. People make mortgage loans every day. Few people can avoid it if they want to own a home. It is just important to fully understand what a mortgage is, and the obligation it entails.

Financing is a specialized subject, therefore it's important for you to be candid with your Realtor about your family requirements, particularly your finances. He is not there to pry. He is there to help. And the more he knows, the more helpful he can be.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at THE HOWE AGENCY, 4 Pynchard Ave., Andover. Phone: 475-5100. We're here to help.

The first mailboxes were erected in Paris in 1653. However, messengers, fearing for their livelihood, put mice in the boxes to destroy the mail; thus no further attempt to install mailboxes was made in Paris until 1758.

A Glimmer Of Hope On Postal Service

There may be hope yet for Andover businesspeople who are unhappy with the town's post office box service — but nobody's counting any unhatched chickens.

The Andover Chamber of Commerce recently gave up a three-year fight for

Down The Years

Two new sergeants have begun their duties with the Police Department, with one of the officers reassigned. Sgt. Robert Parker, who has been on the 5 p.m. to 1 a.m. shift, has now been assigned to the detective division, while newly-appointed Sgt. James Johnson has been named to the 5 to 1 shift. Sgt. Jacob Jacobson works the relief shift.

The Doherty School PTO Tuesday night urged the school committee toward renovation plans to solve the school's problems of "inadequate and inflexible space," and got a sympathetic audience. Chairman William King told the PTO parents that Doherty was under consideration in the comprehensive building survey, and Dr. Frank Griggs asked for a PTO list of "quickie jobs" that would bring immediate relief.

The New England Patriots certainly wound up the season in great fashion. The Stanford duo of Jim Plunkett and sidekick Randy Vataha, a Disneyland dropout, capped off a most successful season. Continued improvement is forecast for the club, in the years to come, which should spur on season ticket sales for the new stadium in Foxboro.

Woodworking

Would you like the experience of creating something out of wood without the aid of modern power tools? It can happen at the Peabody Museum of Salem.

Beginning on January 9, John Ross will again hold this popular series of classes. Participants will develop an appreciation for working with wood through the use of mid-nineteenth century woodworking tools. You may make what you like. If you don't have an idea, then a project can be suggested. Projects depend entirely upon the interests and experience of the individual.

The classes will be held on Saturdays — Jan. 9, 16, 23 and 30, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the red schoolhouse behind the Museum.

improved box service in the downtown post office. Merchants claim service has deteriorated, hindering their businesses, since sorting operations were moved from Andover to Lawrence.

The selectmen wrote to Vice President George Bush in late November, appealing for his help. They also contacted U.S. Sen. Paul Tsongas.

In a Dec. 10 letter, vice presidential executive assistant Robert Thompson replied that Bush's office would contact the United State Postal Service on Andover's behalf, and would "do everything possible to be of service."

Tsongas's office wrote on Dec. 3 that Yvonne Sheppard of his Boston staff would "make inquiries" about the problem.

Selectmen Chairman Norma Gammon this week seemed fairly unimpressed with both responses.

Equally unimpressed was Chamber President Robert Finlayson, who led the battle for improved postal service until the chamber finally decided it had reached a dead end.

Theda Leonard, Tsongas's director of state policy, in a Dec. 22 letter thanking the chamber for information forwarded to the senator, wrote that the problem is "far from a dead issue as far as we are concerned ... The situation as it stands is intolerable for the business community."

Finlayson, explaining that he had heard it all before, indicated that he would reserve his enthusiasm until he sees some results.
